“THE POWER OF OUR VOICES: Survivors and Justice Professionals Together”

Victims and Survivors of Crime Week raises awareness about the needs of victims/survivors while acknowledging the efforts of those who serve in the justice system.

Many say the current justice system is ill-equipped to deal with the emotional/relational complexities of intimate partner, domestic and sexualized violence.

By bringing the voices of survivors, advocates, and justice professionals together, how can we all better understand:

- What does justice look like for survivors of relationship or sexualized violence?
- What are the system challenges and limitations?
- What needs to change and how will it happen?

PANELISTS:

Judge Paul Scovil, Bridgewater
Ingrid Brodie, Chief Crown Western Region
Cathy Benton, QC, Legal Aid
Robert Wright, MSW, Consultant, Therapist
Denise John, Mi'kmaw Native Friendship
Centre
